WHEELER & WILSON, MANUFACTURING COMPANY'S IMPROVED SEWING MACHINES. Manufactured at Watertown, Conn.,

Office and Warerooms at 343 Broadway, N. Y. THESE Machines have been in successful operation, in the hands of nanufacturers and families for the past two years, and in every case have given universal satisfaction. The proprietors are now prepared to offer them to the public, with that increased confidence in their merits, which the united testimony of their numerous customers has strengthened and confirmed. These machines are entirely different from any other, the principles on which they are made being esclusively our own. Among the advantages of this Machine over any ethers are the following:

1. The simplicity of its construction, and the ease with which it can be kept in the most perfect order. 2. The perfect menner with which the operator is enabled to stitch and sew the various kinds of work. from the finest linen to the coarsest cloths. 3. It particularly excels in the rapidity with which work can be executed, and in that respect it has no

4. The little power required to propel them, enabling even those of the most delicate constitution to use them without injury to their heaith. We are now manufacturing a larger-sized machine more purticularly adapted to the sewing of leather. canvas tags, and the heavier kinds of cioths. An examination of our Machines is respectfully solicited at our Office, 343 Broadway, N. Y.

HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE. WE GIVE YOU FACTS!

We Appeal to your own Citizens! THOUSANDS SPEAK ITS PRAISE! This arti 1 , whi h has m de so many wonderful ares wherever tried, was discovered by D. JESSE HAMPTON, now in fine health, in the 79th year nis age. He was born in Virginia in the year 1775. and emigrated to Kentucky, then a wilderness, with us father in 1779. In early manbood he was so re luced by dis a e as to be almost wrecked in coastitution. He spent much of his living for medical advice and attention; and grew nothing better, but worse. Finding no relief from his physician, he re -olved to try the restorative powers of the roots, barks, leaves, plants, &c., of the forest. He then dwelt in the midst of the Red Men of the Western

Wills. Having heard much of their skill in the use of the vegetable remedies of the forest, and k owing their mode of medicinal practice must be one of practical experience, and not of theoretical speculation, he made himself acquainted with their remedies, and also with the practical medicinal knowledge the early settlers of Kentucky had obtained from the "medi ine men" of the Indians. He care fally studied the nature of the medicines used by ceived, used them as he had been taugut, and had the cheering satisfaction of finding disease driven from his emaciated body, and vigorous health given in its stead. His case was of no ordinary kind, but Occtor for his successful and wonderful combina ion of Indian Gemeules, which was freely given to them, until the cases became so numerous, and the demand so great, that the Doctor wrs advised by his friends and induced through justice to himself, to put up his Vegetable Tincture in bettles, and charge price for it, which was treely given-finding its way into the first and most intelligent families, and

"Pardon me, Miss Edwards, I cannot agree with you. To me gray hair is beauiful. My mother's hair is gray. A deep silence followed these words .-The low, carnest, reverential tone in which they were spoken had impressed the gayest of that gay young group. The speaker had numbered more than forty years. He was above the medium height, his frame indicating vigor and manly strength, rather than grace or beauty. The face, though far from handsome, at once inspired both confidence and respect. Its ordinary expression was grave, smiles rarely visited it, but when they came the effect was like a bright beam of sunshine on a shady place. Around the broad, high brow dustered graceful curls of dark brown hair. The contour of the head was singularly beautiful and more than redeemed the plainness of the face. He was a man of great moral and mental power, to whom his acquaintances looked up with admiration that was little short of reverence. By the magic of his eloquence he could sway a listening multitude as the leaf-burned branches of the forest trees are swayed by the winds of heaven. He had an enviable reputation as a man of learning, and he was one of the blessed
